The sale of tickets for the Ellery band's engagement and for the opening of the vaudeville season at the Orpheum will begin this morning at the box office in the Orpheum, formerly the Grand Opera house. The work of remodeling, redecorating and refurbishing is rapidly reaching the finishing touches and the theatre, now the prettiest in the state, will be ready for Friday night when the Ellery band comes for one concert. From the interest which the announcement of the band's engagement has caused, the house will probably be crowded and it will be a big society event.

SEVENTY-THREE TRAINS CAME IN TO OGDEN.

Union Depot a Scene of Great Animation—Many Trains Will Leave Ogden on Wednesday.

In point of passenger traffic, in and through this city, Monday was the banner day in the history and record of the big Union Depot. Seventy-three passenger trains arrived at Ogden between the hours of 6 a. m. and midnight, and Depot Master Shields is authority for the statement that between 6,000 and 7,000 passengers were handled by the different Harriman roads converging in this city. Even with this vast assemblage of travelers and tourists moving in every direction not an unpleasant incident or accident occurred to mar the record of the day and everything passed off harmoniously and pleasantly.

This morning the Union Depot was crowded and jammed again with a moving mass of passengers from the east and north and west, and there was also a large assemblage of Ogden people en route to the capital city. Among the latter was a hundred or more members of Grand Army and Women's Relief Corps who went down to encampment headquarters to register and take part in the day's exercises, but all were taken care of nicely and there was ample equipment on southbound trains to accommodate the multitude.

Big Rush Wednesday.

Local railroad officials anticipate a veritable exodus of Ogden people to Salt Lake Wednesday and are prepared to handle between three and four thousand who are anxious to witness the parade and exercises of the day. Trains will leave over the Short Line in the morning at 6:35, 7:15, 8:00, 8:15, 8:30 and at 10:40 and in the afternoon at the regular hours scheduled. The special, which leaves at 8:00 a. m., will be handsomely decorated for the occasion and will carry down to the capital city the Ogden veterans of the G. A. R., the members of the Relief Corps and the band of twenty-five musicians, as well as their friends and as many as can be accommodated in twelve large coaches and chair cars. The exodus from the train will be taken up by another special fifteen minutes later and by regular trains leaving over this line every few minutes.

Aside from the Short Line train service, the Rio Grande road will send out additional coaches on regular trains and one or two special trains to accommodate the throng at the Union Depot.

In addition to these trains, leaving the Union Depot, the Bamberger road will run a large number of regular and special trains during the day, so that all who desire may attend the big day of the great national encampment.

GEORGE REYNOLDS, SECRETARY TO BRIGHAM YOUNG, DEAD

Salt Lake, August 10.—George Reynolds, one of the first council of seventy of the Mormon church, and prominent in many other lines of the church work, died peacefully at his home at the corner of Wall and Apricot streets, on Capitol hill, shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. General debility was given as the cause of his death. About two years ago he had a breakdown caused from overwork and from which he never fully recovered, having during the last few months been growing gradually weaker and weaker, until the end yesterday.

He was secretary to the first presidency during a part of the administration of Brigham Young and since then has been almost constantly in the employ of the church. He was a lieutenant in the Nauvoo legion and secretary of the regiment. In 1869 he was elected by the legislative assembly of the territory as a regent of the University of Deseret, now the University of Utah, and was later re-elected by following legislatures. He was a prolific writer on Mormon subjects.

In 1871 he spent some months in England as editor of the "Millennial Star," and returning home wrote "The Story of the Book of Mormon," the Dictionary of the Book of Mormon, and the Concordance of the Book of Mormon. In 1872 he was lessee and manager of the Salt Lake theater. From 1875 to 1879 he was a member of the municipal council of Salt Lake City.

When an agreement was made for a test of the congressional law of 1862 against polygamy Mr. Reynolds was chosen to stand in the gap and was tried in the federal courts, the trial lasting for seven days. He was found guilty and sentenced to one year in prison and to pay a fine of $100. The judgment was set aside by the supreme court of the territory. He was tried again, found guilty and sentenced in 1876 to two years imprisonment and fined $500. This time the supreme court sustained the judgment.

An appeal to the supreme court of the United States resulted in elimination of the hard labor clause and he was taken to the Nebraska state penitentiary at Lincoln, where he remained twenty-five days, when he was brought back to Utah to the Utah territorial penitentiary. He was released January 20, 1881, having served his full time less good conduct allowances. He has been closely connected with Sunday school work in the Mormon church and was the oldest member of the Deseret School union, of which he has held the chief office. He has been associate editor of the Deseret News and a director of the Z. C. M. I. of Zion's Savings bank and of other local institutions. He was also a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Mr. Reynolds was born January 1, 1842, in Maryland, England, and came to Utah in July, 1855. He was the husband of two wives, one of whom survives him and he leaves a large family.

STREET CAR RUNS OVER RAPHAEL GRANGE OF OGDEN.

Employee of Browning Bros. Garage Thrown From Bicycle in Front of a Rapidly Moving Car.

Raphael Grange, an employee of Browning Bros. Automobile garage, was run over by a Washington avenue street car at Twentieth street, while he was riding home from work on his bicycle shortly after 6 o'clock last evening. As a result of the accident, both of his legs had to be amputated about half way between the knee and the ankle. One of his legs was operated on last night, and the other this morning, by Drs. J. W. Pickcock and C. F. Osgood, who were summoned to his assistance immediately after the accident.

Grange had been in the middle of the tracks and was attempting to get into the road when car No. 30, Jim Burton, motorman, struck him. He was not attempting to get out of the way of a runaway one of the Troy Laundry wagons, as was stated in a paper this morning. According to the story of S. S. Higginbotham, driver of the wagon, the runaway did not occur until after the street car accident.

Grange's bicycle was picked up by the fender, which was dropped by the motorman, but Grange was thrown to the side of the track, and while attempting to get out of the way of the car, was pinned to the rails.

As soon as persons in the crowd, which hurriedly gathered, had collected their senses enough to respond to the pitiful pleadings of the injured man, he was picked up and placed in a Singer Sewing Machine wagon which happened to be near, and from which he was later transferred to an automobile and taken to the Ogden General hospital.

Grange is married and has one child. He lives at 1741 Riverside avenue.

Just as the excited crowd commenced to leave the street, a horse attached to the Troy Laundry wagon No. 3, which had become frightened while his driver, S. S. Higginbotham, was in a house nearby telephoning for an ambulance for Grange, dashed madly up the street. Several persons narrowly escaped being knocked down and trampled upon. The horse was stopped before it had gone far.

Joseph Bailey, superintendent of the Ogden Rapid Transit company, stated this morning that the company regrets that the accident occurred. For some time, he said, the street car men had complained that bicyclists were making a track out of the middle of the car line, and an accident had been feared.

CHAMBERS SELECTS SITE FOR HATCHERY

Situated at Panquitch, Which Has Capacity for One Million Fish.

State Game and Fish Commissioner Fred Chambers returned Monday from Panquitch, where he selected a site for a new big fish hatchery. The deeds for the land and water right will be forwarded in a few days, and it is expected that the hatchery will be built within the next three months. It will have a capacity of one million fish, and the place will be ready for the spring hatch. This hatchery will supply enough fry to plant all of the streams in the southern part of the state, including the running waters in Kane, Beaver and Iron counties.

It will be impossible to send the fry, which will be ready in September, to the south, on account of the hot weather, and the little fellows cannot stand a trip of more than 100 miles.

There are 900,000 trout fry in the Richfield hatchery, which will be planted within five weeks in the Sevier, Sanpete, Piute, Carbon and Grand county streams. These Richfield trout are in fine condition, and good results are anticipated. Among the principal streams which will benefit are the Asa and the Mammoth. A large number of these Richfield fry will also be planted in the streams of the Fruita country.

DEEP SORROW OVER THE DEPARTURE OF A GIRL

Patty pat, patty pat went the hearts of several stalwart policemen as petite little Mrs. Gault tripped daintily down the steep steps of the city jail, smiled a fetching smile at the desk sergeant, winked at Tommy, and then left the building this morning.

After she had gone those big policemen sighed sighs of regret, placed their hands tenderly upon each others' shoulders in brotherly affection, looked out of the window as the trim little damsel hastened across the park, knocked their clubs against the desk and then took up their morning's duties with tear-dimmed countenances. "Ain't it awful, Cap?" exclaimed Jim Pender, with the little few drops trickling down his face. "Just to think that we have got to let her go. Don't you think she will come back?"

And all this was caused by the departure of a well dressed, and pretty girl from the police station today. She had not been in jail long, only a couple of days. She was arrested for attempting to snatch a watch from the pocket of a Pinkerton detective, as he passed her on Washington avenue. At that time she was accompanied by a handsome young man, who has not been seen since, although a number of male voices were heard over the telephone inquiring the amount of her bail. She has a ticket for Seattle, and her purse is not empty by any means.

Ruffles appear again as a trimming on chemises, and, by the way, ruffles are extremely wide

STRAWBERRIES RAISED IN UTAH WERE TOO LARGE.

Veteran Had to See Them From Distant Points of View—This State Pleases a Nebraskan.

Just to show the G. A. R. veterans that Utah can raise the finest strawberries in the land, Col. J. V. Nelson has a pint glass jar containing eleven berries, preserved, that were picked near Ogden, on exhibition at Grand Army headquarters in the City Hall. The berries are certainly large ones. After turning the jar upside down and looking at the strawberries from all points, C. O. Childs, of Shelton, Nebraska, and a member of the Twelfth battalion, Ohio Light Infantry in the Civil war, exclaimed, "My gosh! I don't know whether those things are strawberries or watermelons."

Mr. Childs arrived in Ogden Monday morning. He will accompany the Dix-Logan post to Salt Lake tomorrow morning. He expects to spend most of his time during the encampment in Ogden and will be entertained at the home of Henry Ames, his cousin, 230 Twenty-seventh street. Besides Mr. Ames, he has several other relatives in this city. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Horth, also of Shelton, Neb., accompanied him on the trip to Utah.

"Up to the first of July, we only had about two inches of rain in Nebraska," said Mr. Childs, "and it was about the time that we were beginning to worry about the corn crop. I think that this year's crop will be all right now, although we will have to have some more rain."

"Do I like Utah? Well, I should think I do. This is my first visit here, and everything impresses me favorably. I drove up to the canyon yesterday afternoon and found one of the most beautiful and picturesque spots I have ever seen. It is simply grand in the mountains."

"I suppose dry farming will play important parts in building up this region. I understand it has been successfully tried in different portions of the state."

SHEEP VALUATION RAISED BY BOARD

Fourteen Counties Must Pay One-quarter to One-Half More Tax.

The valuation of sheep assessed in fourteen counties of the state were ordered raised from 20 to 50 per cent by the board of equalization Monday. No other valuations were raised. The counties affected and the percentage of increase are: Box Elder, 30; Emery, 20; Juab, 20; Iron, 20; Sanpete, 30; Summit, 30; Utah, 20; Wasatch, 30; Carbon, 30; Millard, 20; Rich, 30; Sevier, 20; Tooele, 30; Piute, 50.

Grand county was ordered to reconvene its board of commissioners to sit as a county board of equalization from August 12 to, if necessary, August 18, for the purpose of adjusting the assessment on the cattle and sheep in that county. Till this has been done the assessments and valuations in Grand county will be held in abeyance by the state board.

The taxation affairs of Garfield county are still under consideration by the board. With the exception of Grand and Garfield, and the raised valuations on sheep in the counties mentioned, the tax rolls of all the counties were approved by the state board. No raised valuation was made in any county on cattle or any other class of property except sheep. The state board has not yet completed its deliberations.

SEVEN SHOTS FIRED BY OFFICER TO STOP A THIEF

Ordered down from the topmost branches of an apple tree in Wells Chase's orchard, in the north part of the city, where he was having the time of his life, shaking the fruit down to a little girl who danced with glee on the ground below, and arrested by Officer W. Goan, was part of the exciting experience of George Miller, 20 years old, this afternoon.

The rest of the experience ended in his capture in the brush between Grant and Lincoln avenues, after he had broken away from the officer at Sixteenth and Washington.

During the lively cross-country run, the policeman fired seven shots to frighten Miller. The fellow paid little attention to the flying bullets, however, and kept going until Officer H. Anderson, who had come out on the patrol wagon, joined in pursuit and assisted Officer Goan in the capture.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our sincere thanks to the many kind friends who so willingly rendered assistance during the recent sickness and death of our beloved son and brother. Also to those who contributed the beautiful floral offerings, to those who rendered the sweet music, and to the speakers who made consoling remarks at the funeral. Trusting all may receive the blessings of Him who doeth all things well.

Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Brown and family.

DIED

Everly, Louise Eager, the six months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Eager, 3592 Adams avenue, died this morning. Announcement of the funeral will be made later.

Mrs. Etta Kahn, 31 years of age, died early this morning at the home of B. Cohen, 255 Twenty-seventh street. She was born in Russia. The remains will be shipped tomorrow from the Richey undertaking rooms for burial in Salt Lake.

J. C. BAKER'S CONDITION CRITICAL

ONE OF THE BULLETS HAS NOT BEEN EXTRACTED.

Self-Inflicted Wounds May Not Prove Fatal, Although Victim Expresses Desire to Die.

John C. Baker, who attempted to kill himself at his home Sunday night, is still in a critical condition, but the physician attending him says he entertains hopes of the wounded man's recovery.

Baker shot himself four times near the heart, two of the bullets passing through his body. One of the four bullets was located in the muscles on the left side of the body yesterday and removed. The remaining bullet has not been found.

After the shooting Baker expressed a desire to be left alone to die, it is said.

VETERANS WILL MEET AT 7 A. M. TOMORROW

Dix-Logan Post, the Spanish War veterans and the Audubon forum band will form at City Hall square at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning, and march to the Union station, where a special train will be ready to carry them to Salt Lake on the Oregon Short Line. The train will return about 11 o'clock in the evening.

VERNAL WHEELWRIGHT CASE IS DISMISSED

On motion of District Attorney N. J. Harris, in the district court this morning, the criminal case of the State of Utah against Vernal Wheelwright was dismissed. The defendant was charged with a criminal assault on the person of little Olive Reynolds, the daughter of Conductor Reynolds of the Southern Pacific road. The crime is alleged to have been committed on the morning of August 18 of last year. After an examination in the municipal court, the youthful prisoner was bound over to the district court and was released on bonds. Since that time the case has been continued from one month to another until today, when the district attorney advised the court that "in the interest of justice, the case should be dismissed as the evidence was insufficient to warrant a conviction."

ATTENTION U. S. W. V.

All United Spanish War Veterans meet at City Hall, Wednesday morning, August 11th, 7 o'clock sharp. By order of Commander.
